

Sen. Jerry W. Stevenson represents District 6, covering parts of Davis county, including Layton, Syracuse and Clearfield. He was appointed to the Utah Senate in January 2010 and chairs the Executive Appropriations Committee. Prior to his legislative service, Sen. Stevenson served on the Layton City Council for eight years and was the mayor of Layton for 12 years.

Sen. Stevenson serves on numerous boards and commissions, including the Weber State University Board of Trustees, the Military Installation Development Authority, the Utah Inland Port Authority, the Point of the Mountain Development Commission and the CommonSpirit Holy Cross Hospital of Davis County. He previously served as Senate chair for the Prison Relocation Commission and the Prison Development Commission, and has chaired the Weber State University Board of Trustees, the Davis Technology College Board and Envision Utah, a statewide planning organization.

Sen. Stevenson owns and operates J&J Nursery. He and his wife, Sue, are proud parents of five children and are equally proud grandparents of 23 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.