

UTAHNS FIRST

The Utah State Seal is partially visible in the top right corner, featuring a circular design with the text "UTAH STATE" and the year "1896".

SUSTAINABILITY AT EVERY LEVEL

Today, we, as Utahns, are benefitting from decisions made generations ago by leaders who had a vision for what Utah could become. Those who came before us had a forward-thinking mindset to equip future generations with the tools they needed to face challenges head-on. We see that every day. From wide roads in Salt Lake City to reservoirs scattered across the state to establishing universities that would inspire educational excellence, the foresight of those who led before us paved the way for the high quality of life we enjoy.

Now, it is our responsibility to look to the future and plan for the next 100 years while still focusing on what we can do to improve Utahns' lives. Our goal for the 2024 session is to enact policies that create sustainability in all areas to benefit Utahns today and for generations to come.

Sustainability on every level is not just a catch-all phrase; it is a mindset. A mindset that starts with putting Utahns first. We are no strangers to success, and it wasn't created overnight. It has been built upon for more than a century, and we must continue laying the tracks for future generations to flourish. We will develop long-lasting, sustainable policies in all areas that will position our state for success and prosperity.

With a Utahns-first mindset, we can achieve great things. By building on the achievements of the past and prioritizing family and business-friendly policies, we can prepare for whatever challenges the world may bring. Together, we can and will build a sustainable future for every Utahn and create a brighter tomorrow.
