President Adams Responds to the State of the State Address

SALT LAKE CITY – President J. Stuart Adams issues the following statement following Gov. Spencer Cox’s 2025 State of the State address:

“Gov. Cox and I share a common vision for our great state. Utah's success isn't by chance—it is the result of foresight and determination to shape it. We know that Utahns are truly the backbone of our state. By embracing innovation and working together, we will chart a path forward to ensure enduring prosperity for our children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Building a future to secure affordable energy, ample water and abundant housing is essential to keeping Utah as the best state in the nation and the Utah Dream alive.”
